BOMB LABORATORY IS RAIDED IN FLAT; POLICE HOLD THREE

found asleep in a bedroom. A locked room in the rear of the house was opened by Kluger and here the laboratory was disclosed. The walls were blackened with powder marks, there were huge dents in the plaster, and Monte, who had been hustled out of bed, admitted several slight explosions had occurred during experiments he made in the place. He refused to tell why he was "experimenting."

There were over 100 bottles of chemicals on shelves arranged about the room, and there was a large resort, which Monte admitted he had used in experimenting with the manufacture of chlorine gas.

"Don't you know you could have killed every one in this house with that gas if it got away from you?" he was asked by Inspector Lieberman of the Fire Department Bureau of Combustibles.

"I don't think so," he said, and shrugged his shoulders when asked why he was experimenting with the gas.

MATERIAL FOR FIRE BOMBS READY AT HAND.

Among the chemicals found were a gallon of sulphuric acid and a quantity of potash, which were the ingredients of the fire bombs discovered last July in the steamer Kirkoswald at Marseilles, France. There were several bottles of muriatic acid, nitric acid and picric acid. There was also a quantity of sulphur.

On a table arranged for tools were fifty feet of thin insulated wire, several inside parts of clocks, some of them still intact and ready to go if wound, and other electrical appliances which the police refused to describe.

Kluger and his wife appeared to be surprised when they saw the contents of the room. They said they had rented it to Monte several weeks ago and did not know what he was doing in it. They were taken with him, however, to Police Headquarters and were held at the direction of Chief Flynn. No charges were entered. Chief Flynn took possession of the letters seized.

Five additional indictments, one of them charging conspiracy to commit murder, were returned to-day by the Federal Grand Jury against Max Breitlung, Dr. Herbert Klenzie, Robert Fay, Walter Scholz, Engelbert Bronkhurst and Paul Daeché, who are alleged to have been in the German conspiracy to attach floating bombs to ships leaving this port. Paul Daeché is seeking to avoid extradition to the Federal jurisdiction here. GRAND JURY TAKES UP NEW EVIDENCE OF PLOTS.

Daeché, in Jersey City to-day, is having argued a writ of habeas corpus in an effort to avoid being compelled to face the charges here, because the indictment against him, he claims, is not specific.

If the previous indictment should not hold, the new ones will serve to bring him within the jurisdiction of the Court. The five indictments charge conspiracy to murder, to assault, to destroy a vessel, to attempt to destroy cargoes and to injure underwriters who have insured ship's cargoes.

While the Grand Jury was in session Capt. William M. Offey, head of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, was in conference with United States District Attorney Marshall with regard to the investigation which has been conducted by the Government agents into the activities of the Labor National Peace Council and the Anti-Trust League. He turned over to Mr. Marshall the information gathered by the Department agents.

GERMAN MEDDLING IN MEXICO DENIED

Von Bernstorff Declares Untrue Report that Kaiser's Agents Tried to Start Revolution.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, to-day made emphatic denial of reports that Germany or German officials' agents had been concerned in recent attempts to set up a counter-revolution in Mexico.

A DOUBTER.
(From the Washington Star.)
"Early to bed and early to rise, you know," said the ready-made philosopher.
"Yes," replied Mr. Grump. "But I don't observe that this rule gives the man who drives a milk wagon any particular advantage."

CHRISTMAS MUSIC AT HOME

There was a time when only one man in 10,000 could play the piano. This Christmas every man can. The wrought this wonderful change. It was the first practical piano-player action. It is still the first. It makes of the piano into which it is built

A player-piano which gives to you at once the mastery over music it takes a finished pianist years to acquire.

We have built it into five of the oldest American pianos—pianos that have lived because they are GOOD—Schomacker, Emerson, Kurtzmann, Lindeman and the celebrated Knabe.

The home that has one of these player-pianos will have the best of music this Christmas. Terms are convenient. Choose early.
